

Acknowledgment

AS WE WRITE EVERY YEAR since 2010, this publication would never see the light of day without the full support of so many people in different countries in Asia-Pacific and beyond. They believed in the value of this publication. They worked to have articles on human rights promotion and education included in the fifteen annual volumes of this publication.

Aside from the authors, we recognize the contribution of the following people in preparing this volume:

Shohei Hara, Osaka Center for Mental Health and Human Rights; Reina Ueno, Director, Buraku Liberation Center, United Church of Christ in Japan; Sana Ali, Director, Pakistan Press Foundation; Junichi Miyashita, Human Rights & Compliance Promotion Department, Sekisui House, Ltd.; Henri Tiphagne, Director, People's Watch, Tamil Nadu, India; Itaru Yoshida, Secretary-General, Fukuoka Prefectural Human Rights Research Institute; Katerina Francisco, EngageMedia; Jen Tarnate, Project Lead, and King Catoy, Project Lead & Impact Producer, Tech Tales Youth Development Lead, Cinemata; SHIN Hae Bong, Professor, Department of Human Rights, Faculty of Law, Aoyama Gakuin University; Pranoto Iskandar, Faculty of Law, Tarumanagara University and Founding Director, Institute for Migrant Rights; LIM Hyunmook, Director, APCEIU, EOM Jeongmin, Deputy Head, Institute of Global Citizenship Education, APCEIU, and KIM Jay Jaehong, Head, Office of Education and Training (on leave), APCEIU; and Elena Ippoliti and Vaibhavi Sharma Pathak, Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights.

There is another person who deserves a very special acknowledgment—Fidel D. Rillo, Jr. He journeyed with HURIGHTS OSAKA in its English publication work for twenty-six long years. Aside from this annual publication and its predecessor (Human Rights Education in Asian Schools, with ten annual volumes from 1999 being laid out), he also laid out a directory (Directory of Asia-Pacific Human Rights Centers, second edition, 2013), and training materials (Human Rights Education in the Northeast Asian School Systems - Resource Material, 2013; Business, Human Rights and Northeast Asia - A Facilitator's Training Manual, 2016).

HURIGHTS OSAKA benefitted so much from the professionalism of Fidel. He devoted time and effort to ensure that each publication he worked on for HURIGHTS OSAKA would have the best design and lay-out. Occupied with his work on other publications in the Philippines, he was always able to find the time to support HURIGHTS OSAKA. Fidel believes in promoting human rights in Asia-Pacific through publications.

Thank you so much, Fidel.
